Calendarial Helps.

While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease.—Genesis.

ENTER 1894! Numbering three hundred and sixty-five days, as yet unwritten pages in the volume of life. On them may be inscribed the record of commercial success, rich friendships, self-growth, spiritual victories. The new year is not an accident—a bit of the eternities intrusted by chance to the keeping of men. It comes as an orderly sequence in the succession of years and centuries. Astronomers, prophets, philosophers have foreseen its approach. To know its place in the centuries is civilization as distinguished from savagery; to appreciate its coming and its worth is Christian philosophy.

The almanac, as the orderly classification of the astronomical phenomena, ecclesiastical festivals, and kindred events of the year, is a volume of somewhat modern conception. Although the ancient Romans had their fasti sacri, or kalendares, which corresponded to the present calendars, yet the use of similar devices does not seem to have been common till more recent times. The earliest almanac in manuscript form bears date of the twelfth century. The first almanac in the English language was perhaps for the year 1386. The first printed almanac was for 1457. The earlier almanacs are said to have been "crammed with ridiculous predictions and suggestions." The Edinburgh Almanac; the British Almanac, first issued in 1828; the Nau- tical Almanac, projected by Dr. Maskelyne, the astronomer-royal, and regularly published since 1767; Poor Richard's Almanac, issued by Franklin from 1732 to 1757, and replete with the wise and now famous sayings of the philosopher; Thom's Irish Almanac; and various well-known German and French almanacs are among the prominent publications in this department of research. They and their fellows have now become an indispensable part of the current literature of the nations.

The Moon.

THE single satellite of the earth; 2,153 miles in diameter; one forty-ninth as large as the globe; greatest and least distances from the earth, 251,947 and 225,719 miles. Only one side is ever seen. Time of revolution round the earth, 27 d. 7 h. 43 m. 11½ s. Illuminating power so feeble that it would take 547,513 full moons to give as much light as the sun. As to its undulations of surface, Lockyer remarks:

With the naked eye we see that some parts of the moon are much brighter than others; there are dark patches which, before large telescopes were in use, were thought to be, and were named, oceans, gulfs, and so on. The telescope shows us that these dark markings are smooth plains, and that the bright ones are ranges of mountains and hill country broken up in the most tremendous manner by volcanoes of all sizes. A further study convinces us that the smooth plains are nothing but old sea-bottoms. In fact, once upon a time the surface of the moon, like our earth, was partly covered with water and the land was broken up into hills and fertile valleys. As on the earth we have volcanoes, so did it once happen in the moon, with the difference that there the size of the volcanoes and the number and activity of them were far beyond anything we can imagine; our largest volcanic mountain, Etna, is a mere dwarf compared with many on the moon. . . . As far as we know, with possibly one exception, which is not yet established, the volcanoes are now all extinct; the oceans have disappeared; the valleys are no longer fertile; nay, the very atmosphere has apparently left our satellite, and that little celestial body, which probably was once the scene of various forms of life, now no longer supports them.

Eclipses in 1894.

In the year 1894 there will be four Eclipses, two of the Sun and two of the Moon, and a Transit of Mercury over the Sun's disk.

I. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, March 21. Visible more or less to the extreme western portion of North America, Asia, Australia, and the Pacific Ocean. Between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains the Moon will set in the morning dimmed with penumbra shade.

II. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, April 6. Invisible to America. Visible to eastern Europe and Asia.

III. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, September 14–15. Visible more or less to North and South America, the western portions of Europe and Africa, and the Atlantic and eastern Pacific Oceans.

IV. A Total Eclipse of the Sun, September 29. Invisible to America. Visible to portions of Africa, Hindoostan, and Australia, and to the Indian Ocean.

A Transit of Mercury, November 10. Visible generally to North and South America, the western portions of Europe and Africa, eastern Australia, and the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Historic Eras.

The year 1894 includes the latter part of the one hundred and eighteenth and the beginning of the one hundred and nineteenth year of the Independence of the United States of America. It also corresponds to the year 7402–7403 of the Byzantine Era; the year 5654–55 of the Jewish Era; the year 2647 since the foundation of Rome, according to Varro; and the year 1312 of the Mohammedan Era, or the Era of the Hegira, which begins on the 5th day of July, 1894. It is also the one hundred and tenth year of the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Present Standards of Time.

THESE standards have now been in use since the year 1883:

The Eastern Standard Meridian, for the eastern part of the United States, passes very nearly through Ogdensburg, N. Y.

The Central Standard Meridian passes through New Orleans, La., and a little west of Chicago.

The Mountain Meridian passes through the Rocky Mountains very near Pike's Peak, Colo.

The Pacific Standard Meridian is near the Pacific Coast, San Francisco being about nine and a half minutes of time west of it.

To Find Day of the Week.

BY use of the following directions it is claimed that the day of any date in the present century—from 1800 to 1900—may be ascertained:

Divide the year (omitting the century) by 4, adding the quotient after dropping the remainder. To this add the day of the month and its proper complement from the following table. Divide the sum total by 7 and the remainder will be the day of the week, counting Sunday the first. If there be no remainder the answer will be Saturday. Following are the complements of the months:

January	3	June	0
In leap year	2	July	2
February	6	August	5
In leap year	5	September	1
March	6	October	3
April	2	November	6
May	4	December	1

The two following examples clearly illustrate this method. We may, for instance, find on what day of the week the following dates occur:

January 1, 1876.

Answer: Saturday.

The above complements are only correct for the present century.

II.

The Methodist Episcopal Church.

A system which has beautified the earth with salvation and increased the joys of heaven.—Emlury's Monument.

METHODISM has been called by Tyerman "the greatest fact in the history of the Church of Christ." Its astounding growth in numbers and influence is forcibly seen by reference to the Minutes of the Annual Conferences of a century ago. In 1794 forty preachers were admitted on trial, through the whole Church, including William Beauchamp, Thomas Coope, Nicholas Snethen, and Samuel Coate, who later came to fame. Thirty-three preachers remained on trial, and forty-seven were admitted into full connection, including the afterward well-known Solomon Sharp, James Nolley, Stith Mead, Thomas Lyell, Elijah Woolsey, Lawrence McCombs, and Joseph Totten. There were in the whole connection eighty-five deacons and one hundred and eleven elders. Thomas Coke and Francis Asbury were announced as continued "by the unanimous suffrages of the General Conference to superintend the Methodist Episcopal Church in America." Twenty-eight were "under a location through weakness of body or family concerns." Two withdrew; four were dismissed; four died (though by the Minutes of 1795 three more died in 1794). These were Philip Cox, "a native of Britain, who was born at Froome, Somersetshire," and who "had been in the ministry about sixteen years, during which time he traveled extensively through several of the United States;" Henry Birchett, "from Brunswick County, State of Virginia, between five and six years in the ministry;" James Wilson, "a native of the eastern shore of Maryland, about fifteen years in the profession of religion, near six years in public exercises;" and John Wynn, "near the age of twenty-seven years, a native of Sussex County, State of Virginia, between three and four years in the traveling connection." The members reported as "in Society," by the Minutes for 1794, are 52,794 whites and 13,814 colored. Thirteen Conferences were held during the year, as follows: South Carolina, New Territory, Kentucky, Mitchell's (Bottetourt), Rockingham, Union Town, Albany, Lynn, Connecticut, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Petersburg. The plan of frequent itinerancy seems to have been rigidly observed, the record of the Minutes being to the effect that "the bishop and Conferences desire that the preachers would generally change every six months, by the order of the presiding elder, whenever it can be made convenient."

Of the hardships suffered by the heroic itinerants of Methodism a century ago, the record of Bishop Asbury's travels in South Carolina furnishes a conspicuous example. In his Journal for March 20, 1794, he writes:

I directed my course, in company with my faithful fellow-laborer, Tobias Gibson, up the Catabaw, settled mostly by the Dutch. A barren spot for religion. Having ridden in pain twenty-four miles we came, weary and hungry, to O——'s tavern, and were glad to take what came to hand. Four miles forward we came to Howe's Ford, upon Catabaw River, where we could neither get a canoe nor guide. We entered the water in an improper place, and were soon among the rocks and in the whirlpools. My head swam and my horse was affrighted; the water was to my knees, and it was with difficulty we retreated to the same shore. We then called to a man on the other side, who came and piloted us across, for which I paid him well. My horse being afraid to take the water a second time, Brother Gibson crossed and sent me his, and our guide took mine across. We went on, but our troubles were not at an end; night came on, and it was very dark. It rained heavily, with powerful lightning and thunder. We could not find the path that turned out to Connell's. In this situation we continued until midnight or past; at last we found a path which we followed till we came to dear old father Harper's plantation.

According to Jesse Lee, it was in general "a year of great trouble and distress among the Methodists in the Southern States," partly from the O'Kelly secession which had just occurred, and partly because of the prevalent spirit of restlessness among "local preachers and private members." Yet it was a year of revival interest in different sections of New England, and the time when Methodism first gained foothold in the "province of Maine." Such is a passing view of Methodism a century since. What will be the statistics and the influence of the denomination in 1994?

Annual Conference Summaries.

THERE are now one hundred and forty annual organizations enrolled in the plan of episcopal supervision and yearly met by some member of the Board of Bishops. They are contained in three groups, as follows:

I. Conferences.—Of these there are one hundred and twenty-one. In this estimate are omitted the Germany and the Northwest Swedish, last held in 1893, and in their stead are inserted (1) the North Germany and the South Germany Conferences, (2) the Central Swedish and the Western Swedish Conferences. These new Conferences will first meet in 1894.

II. Mission Conferences.—Of these there are seven, including the Northern Swedish, one of the results from the division of the Northwest Swedish Conference, which will first meet in 1894. This enumeration does not include the Congo Mission Conference, from which no returns have been received.

III. Missions.—Of these there are twelve. This estimate does not include the Lower California and the Navajo Indian Missions, from which no statistical returns have been received.

In a few instances among the Fall Conferences the statistics of 1892 are necessarily inserted, as indicated by an asterisk (*), the figures for 1893 not being received as the YEAR BOOK goes to press. The grand totals will, therefore, slightly differ from those of the General Minutes for 1893. The variation, however, will be inconsiderable. In the case of the Germany and Northwest Swedish Conferences the figures of the original bodies are inserted for the last time.

Center of Methodist Population.

In the accompanying map† the movement of Methodism westward is shown from 1840—the census year preceding the division of the Church—till 1890. Owing to the separation of 1844 the center moved eastward, as will be observed, and in 1850 was found near Stroudsburg, Pa. In 1860 it was near Pittsburg, Pa.; in 1870, near St. Clairsville, O.; in 1880, near Delaware, O.; and in 1890, near Lima, O. The stars indicate the westward movement by decades of the center of population in the United States.

Department of Publication.

We ought to reverence books, to look at them as useful and mighty things. If they are good and true . . . they are the message of Christ, the maker of all things, the teacher of all truth.—Kingsley.

JOHN WESLEY, the founder of Methodism, was himself a patron of letters and a believer in the elevating influence of Christian literature. Notwithstanding his phenomenal evangelistic labors, his pen was ever busy writing books and tracts for his early English societies. His first publication was a book of devotions, sold at a cheap price, for the poor. Next followed his edition of the Imitation of Christ, and afterward tracts and volumes innumerable. Of his efforts to spread a helpful literature among his followers Dr. Stevens writes:

Wesley was the first to set the example of modern cheap prices sustained by large sales. A catalogue of his publications, printed about 1756, contains no less than one hundred and eighty-one articles in prose and verse, English and Latin, on grammar, logic, medicine, music, poetry, theology, and philosophy. Two thirds of these publications were for sale at less than one shilling each, and more than one fourth at a penny. They were thus brought within reach of the poorest of his people. "Simplify religion and every part of learning," he wrote to Benson, who was the earliest of his lay preachers addicted to literary labors. To all his preachers he said, "See that every Society is supplied with books," some of which "ought to be in every house."

Early in the history of American Methodism came a similar use of religious literature as a means for the spiritual elevation of the people. The successive steps leading to the establishment of a Book Concern are matters of important denominational history. From the first feeble beginnings under John Dickins, at Philadelphia, in 1789, has resulted the greatest religious publishing agency in the world.

Book Concern at New York.

In their report to the Eastern Section of the Book Committee, February, 1893, the Local Committee at New York speak as follows concerning the work of the Eastern Concern for the previous year:

The year just past has not been marked with anything out of the usual course of business. . . . The different departments of the Methodist Book Concern have worked faithfully and in harmony, and the figures which the Agents will furnish will also show that they have secured all the success that could be reasonably expected. It will be seen that our sales of books, which last year were $451,736.65, are this year $463,913.83—an increase of $12,177.18. We would call attention to the fact that, notwithstanding the large decrease in notes and accounts last year, the good work is still going on; although the sales are larger this year the notes and accounts are nearly $5,000 less.

We have been greatly gratified at the improvement in the Art Department connected with the Book Concern. Steel plate engravings have been almost entirely displaced by what is called "half-tone and new process" work, and the house is acquiring a very fine reputation for the production of excellent work.

When we consider that a large percentage has been taken off the price of books, that a large part of the property occupied on Fifth Avenue is unremunerative to the Book Concern, and that the expenses of running such an establishment are necessarily great, we feel that our Agents have done well in adding something to our assets after paying in dividends, subsidies, etc., the large sum of $78,349.92.

Subscription Book Department.—This department was opened August 5, 1875. Mr. Henry W. Knight has been its superintendent from the beginning. Since its organization eighteen separate publications have been issued, and nearly 650,000 volumes have been sold. For the year ending June, 1893, the sales in this department amounted to $94,002.90.

NEW BOOK CONCERN, 190 WEST FOURTH STREET, CINCINNATI, O.

Western Methodist Book Concern.

In their report to the annual meeting of the Book Committee, February, 1893, the Western Agents report, in part, as follows concerning their work for the year:

All things considered, we regard the work of the past year as the best in the history of the Concern. We have manufactured and sold more books and periodicals, and of better grade, than in any previous year. That, with our greatly reduced prices, the volume of our trade has increased more than thirty thousand dollars, indicates the hopeful fact that our people are reading far more than formerly the literature of the Church. In the nature of things such sweeping reductions in price have affected our profits, but not to the extent that the comparative figures of 1891 and 1892 might suggest. Other causes have intervened. We have carried for the first time a large amount of unproductive real estate, the major part of which is in the process of improvement, and the remainder awaiting market. The profits of the depositories have been reduced by unusual expenses, a closer sifting of accounts, and special discounts from inventory values.

Notwithstanding these drawbacks, however, we are able to report a sufficient margin to meet our proportion of the dividend of 1893, and (with available resources from the preceding year) complete our new building at Cincinnati without incurring debt.

This new building was opened for use in November, 1893, and will be formally dedicated at the meeting of the Book Committee in February, 1894.

Depositories.

Of the New York Concern.—These are situated at Boston, Pittsburg, Buffalo, and San Francisco. A store is also maintained at Detroit. A new building for the Pittsburg depository is rapidly approaching completion, and will probably be ready for use in January, 1894.

In their report to the annual meeting of the Book Committee at Chicago, February 8, 1893, the Eastern Agents state as follows concerning the prosperity of these depositories:

It will be seen that the sales at our depositories were materially increased during the year. The margin between the discount which we make to them and that which they give to preachers and the trade is not large, and hence their profits cannot be large. The chief advantage of depositories is in furnishing additional channels through which our books find a market. The following is the report of the business for the year:

Boston	Profit,	$6,489 44
Pittsburg	"	3,008 48
Detroit (store)	"	5,256 31
San Francisco	"	60 15

The addresses of the agents at the depositories are as follows:

Boston: C. R. Magee, 38 Bromfield Street.
Pittsburg: Joseph Horner, D.D., 524 Penn Avenue.
Buffalo: H. H. Otis, 288 Main Street.
Detroit (store): Hunt & Eaton, 189 Woodward Avenue.
San Francisco: J. D. Hammond, D.D., 1037 Market Street.

Of the Western Concern.—These are situated at Chicago and St. Louis. In their report to the annual meeting of the Book Committee in 1893, the Western Agents say of these depositories:

Chicago.—Our real estate in Chicago has been for years shown in our exhibits at about one half its value. The Local Committee, in its quadrennial appraisement, now places it at $150,000, which is far below cash offers already tendered for it. The store room has been recently remodeled and refitted. As the Committee will have opportunity to inspect the work the changes need not be described. The outlay upon the first floor and basement room was $6,495.83. In addition to this improvement the countingroom was refurnished throughout, and outfitted with modern conveniences. Notwithstanding these valuable additions to the fixtures, however, that item in the inventory was not increased, but reduced by about $1,200 from last year, which amount, together with the cost of the new furniture, etc., by so much diminished the profits of the depository for the year. Other large items in this direction are $7,628.80, accounts deemed uncollectable, and considerable special discounts taken from merchandise stock. This treatment must, however, prove ultimately beneficial. The sales of the depository were $352,922.12, an increase of $16,030.75. The profits, after the deductions named above, and including receipts from rentals, were $15,531.07. The actual addition to the assets of the depository by the reappraisement is $37,379.65.

St. Louis.—Like Chicago, St. Louis has had extra items of expense during the year, and has suffered the loss of a large per cent of its earnings by the failure of many brethren to pay their accounts; and yet the depository returns a snug profit of $12,440.84 on sales amounting to $192,890.47. The sales for the previous year were $182,241.24; increase for 1892, $10,649.23. We have had no revenue the past year from the Sixth Street property, but have now good reason to expect an early sale.

Cranston & Curts are in each case the agents at the depositories. Their address at Chicago is 57 Washington Street; and at St. Louis, 1505 Lucas Place.

Book Committee.

THIS Committee consists of a representative from each of the fourteen General Conference Districts, and of three members residing in New York or its vicinity, and three residing in Cincinnati or vicinity. They are elected quadrennially by the General Conference, and have power to fill vacancies in their body. The annual meeting is held on the second Wednesday of February.

The Committee consists of two sections of ten each. One, including the members from the Eastern Districts, with the three members of the Local Committee for New York and vicinity, is known as the Eastern Section; the other, comprising the members from the Western Districts, together with the three members of the Local Committee for Cincinnati and vicinity, is called the Western Section. The Eastern Section supervises the work of the New York Publishing House in its several departments; the Western Section performs a similar duty for the House at Cincinnati.

The three members from New York and vicinity constitute a Local Subcommittee, which meets monthly at the Book Concern in New York and examines the transactions of the previous month. Official Benevolences.

Time is short, your obligations infinite. Are your houses regulated, your children instructed, the afflicted relieved, the poor visited, the work of piety accomplished?—Massillon.

The Missionary Society.

THE origin of this oldest benevolence of the Church is an oft-told tale. In response to an increasing conviction of the need for such an organization, a "Missionary and Bible Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America" was formed in the Forsyth Street (then called Bowery) Church, New York, April 5, 1819. Bishop William McKendree was chosen president. The first auxiliary was the "Female Missionary Society of New York," formed in July, 1819. The first anniversary was held in John Street Church, April 17, 1820, with addresses by Nathan Bangs, Samuel Merwin, and Thomas Mason. The General Conference of that year, in Baltimore, approved of the Society, adopted its constitution, on recommendation of its managers, and advised the Annual Conferences to form auxiliaries. From the full report of the Special Committee on missions, which was adopted, the following short extract shows the spirit of the fathers as also the meager proportions of the Methodism of 1820:

In missionary efforts our British brethren are before us. We congratulate them on their zeal and their success. But your Committee beg leave to entreat this Conference to emulate their example. The time, indeed, may not yet be come in which we should send our missionaries beyond seas. Our own continent presents to us fields sufficiently vast, which are opening before us and whitening to the harvest. These, it is probable, will demand all the laborers and all the means which we can command at present. You will permit your Committee to mention some of those missionary grounds which may have a peculiar claim to your first attentions. They are the Canadas, the Floridas, the State of Louisiana; the Territories of Arkansas and Missouri;

our western frontiers generally, having regard to those who use the French, Spanish, or other foreign languages, as well as to those who use the English; together with any destitute places in the interior, in which circuits may not yet have been formed, and where it may be judged important to have efficient missions.

In a particular manner the Committee solicit the attention of the Conference to the condition of the aborigines of our country, the Indian tribes. American Christians are certainly under peculiar obligations to impart to them the blessings of civilization and Christian light. That there is no just cause to despair of success, through grace, in this charitable and pious undertaking is demonstrated by the fact that there are already gathered into church fellowship about sixty members of the Wyandot tribe in the State of Ohio: and that a successful mission, under our direction, is now in operation among them. Why might not similar success attend other missions among other tribes? Is the Lord's arm shortened that he cannot save our brothers of the forest? or is his ear heavy that he will not hear in their behalf?

From this small beginning has resulted one of the most magnificent missionary movements of modern ecclesiastical history. Long since has it passed beyond the boundaries of "the Floridas" and the "Territories of Arkansas and Missouri" in its resistless march. The wide world now throws open its doors for the admission of the Society. "The only limit to our work," say the Corresponding Secretaries, "is the money limit. The missionaries are ready to go. Hundreds of the very chivalry of Zion crowd our altars, saying, 'Here am I; send me!'"

Foreign Summary.—Missionary stations have been established in Africa, South America, China, Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland and St. Petersburg, India, Malaysia, Bulgaria, Italy, Japan, Mexico, and Korea. In the last annual report of the Society the relative rank of the organization among the leading missionary societies of other denominations is stated in the following words:

You will be surprised and delighted to find that combining our work with that of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, after the manner of other denominations, and taking into the account Bishop Taylor's Self-supporting Missions, and Bishop Thoburn's special work for India, our Church has appropriated for 1893 more than a million dollars for foreign missions. We now stand at the head of the column. We have room only for a statement of the appropriations for foreign missions of the five great missionary societies of this country:

Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church	$1,041,393
Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions	1,005,283
American Board	647,000
Baptist Missionary Union	653,000
The Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church	275,600

The contributions of our congregations in foreign lands for self-support, for building orphanages, hospitals, churches, and for evangelistic work have reached the splendid sum of $257,507. All of this, with the exception of $12,000, which came to our treasury in missionary collections, was raised and spent upon the field. The day is fast approaching when our friends in foreign lands will give a million dollars annually for the spread of the kingdom of Christ in the world.

Local Work at New York.—This city is preeminently the greatest missionary field of the United States. Under the supervision of its agent, Rev. G. H. Goodsell, D.D., over 900,000 pages were distributed in New York city and vicinity the past year. From this service remarkable cases of conversion have resulted.

Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society.

THE Freedmen's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church was organized by a convention of ministers and laymen at Cincinnati, August 7 and 8, 1866. An Executive Committee then appointed held its first meeting on August 20. In 1868 the Society was recognized and commended by the General Conference. It was incorporated November 1, 1870. In 1872 it was accepted by the General Conference, collections were first reported in the General Minutes, and $100,000 apportioned to the Annual Conferences for the work. As early as 1868 aid was given to "schools for the education of white children," and in 1880 schools were organized among the white people. In 1888 the name was changed to "The Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society." In 1892 the charter was amended, and the management, in the interim of the General Conference, was given to a General Committee and Board of Managers. The quarter-centennial was held in 1891. The disbursements the first year were $37,139.89. The total disbursements for 1892–93 were $363,763.01; for the twenty-seven years, $3,667,162.12. The meeting of the General Committee for the present year was held in St. Paul, Minn., November 6 and 7, 1893.

Board of Education.

THE history of the more recent educational movements in the Methodist Episcopal Church is briefly summarized in the following extract from the report of the Board of Education for 1893:

1865.—The raising of a General Educational Fund, and also of a "Sunday School Children's Fund," officially proposed by the General Centenary Committee.

1866.—Collections made for these objects during the Centenary celebration of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

1868.—The Central Centenary Committee suggested to the General Conference the propriety of taking, in all our Sunday schools, a collection in aid of the Children's Fund, once a year, on a given day. The Board of Education instituted by the General Conference. At the General Conference of 1868 it was found that the "Children's Offering for Education" made during the Centenary celebration of 1866 amounted to $56,674.40, and the general Educational Fund amounted to $9,155.32; total, $65,829.72.

1869.—Charter of the Board enacted by the Legislature of the State of New York.

1870.—The Board of Education proposed to the Annual Conferences that the second Sunday in June of each year be celebrated as Children's Day, the collection to be given to the Children's Fund.

1872.—Same proposition made to the General Conference, which made the second Sunday in June Children's Day. Collections to be taken when practicable, and to be in aid of the Sunday School Fund of the Board of Education.

1881.—The Children's Day idea approved by the Ecumenical Conference in its official address.

1884.—General Conference authorized the Board to appropriate not only the interest as theretofore, but "such a proportion of the principle of all gifts and contributions to the Sunday School Children's Fund thereafter received as will enable it to provide suitably for the aid of all properly recommended students." In 1885 the Charter was correspondingly amended.

1888.—General Conference took more decided action, and recommended that "hereafter no accumulation of endowment funds be made except by gifts and bequests specially for that purpose, and that all incomes from public collections be devoted to annual disbursements in loans to students and to its current expenses." General Conference also authorized appointment of an "Educational Commission to consider the subject of reorganizing the work of the Church so as to give it more of unity, breadth, and effectiveness."

1892.—General Conference adopted a new chapter on education. It was made the duty of every pastor to observe Children's Day, to take a collection expressly for the Children's Fund, and to forward this collection to the Board. The scope of the Board's work was enlarged; a "University Senate" was authorized to formulate a standard of requirements for graduation to the Baccalaureate degree in our Church schools, and the Board was authorized to apply this standard and classify as colleges such institutions as meet the requirements.

Children's Day.—The language of the Discipline respecting the observance of Children's Day, and the collection by which the fund is sustained, is as follows:

It shall be the duty of every pastor to cause every Sunday school under his charge to observe the second Sunday in June, or such other Sunday as may be more convenient, as "Children's Day," and upon said day, as part of the service, he shall take a collection to be devoted to the "Sunday School Children's Fund." The pastor in charge shall forward the collection aforesaid directly to the Secretary of the Board of Education, and report the same to his Annual Conference under the head of "Children's Fund;" and all educational money, except the Children's Fund, shall be reported to the Annual Conference under the head of "Other Educational Objects."

Loans.—Money is lent to applicants, not donated. Preference is given to adult members of Sunday schools, and to Conferences sending their educational collections to the Board. The Society makes the following conditions in granting loans:

1. The applicant must possess a well-established Christian character and such intellectual qualities and fondness for study as give promise of more than ordinary usefulness.

2. He should have a recommendation from the Quarterly Conference of the church of which he is a member.

3. He should be an enrolled student in some one of our Methodist schools. A few rare exceptions to this requirement are admitted in the case of medical students preparing for missionary work.

4. He must have the recommendation of the faculty of the institution which he is attending, and this recommendation must be repeated each term that he continues to receive aid.

5. He must fill out and sign a blank form of application furnished him by the proper officer of the institution in which he is enrolled.

6. He must sign a note for each loan received.

7. He is legally and morally obliged to pay the notes, according to the conditions printed on them, when he becomes able so to do.

N. B.—The want of correspondence between the sum of classified students and the grand total is caused by the incomplete reports from some schools.

American Bible Society.

For more than half a century the Methodist Episcopal Church has, through successive General Conferences, declared that this Society is its fully accredited agent for the circulation of the Holy Scriptures. Of the late work of the organization in South America, Mexico, and Cuba, its Corresponding Secretaries write the following:

In this year, when so much attention is given to Latin America, it is especially pleasant to note the important work accomplished by the American Bible Society in South America, Mexico, and Cuba. During the past year it has opened a new field in Central America, and the Rev. Francisco Penzotti, a Methodist preacher, whose recent labor and sufferings in Peru prove that the faith which inspired the olden martyrs still exists, has been appointed to its oversight. When Bishop Newman formally organized the South America Annual Conference in July, 1893, it was observed that no less than seven of its members had been furnished by the American Bible Society, while a still larger number of candidates and local preachers are now, or have formerly been, on its staff of colporteurs. The bishop says:

The one great and magnificent work done for evangelization is that by the representatives of the American Bible Society. I have met them everywhere in South America, and I have been charmed with the wonderful incidents related of the labors of these brave and faithful colporteurs. I have seen them at Chosica in the Andes, at Santa Rosa in the Cordilleras, in all the seaport towns, among the mines of Coronel, on the shores of the great Parana, in Buenos Ayres and Montevideo, in Rio de Janeiro and Pernambuco, and I rejoice that our own Church is represented by such faithful Methodist ministers as Penzotti, of Peru; Milne, of Argentina; and Tucker, of Brazil. Some of this "advanced guard" of the Lord's army are stoned, beaten, thrown into prison; but, undaunted, they "sow beside all waters."

Similar statements might be made concerning the relation of the American Bible Society to Methodism in Mexico. The Society during the past ten years has sent from the Bible House to Latin America, including Cuba, 540,000 volumes, chiefly in the Spanish language.

The work of the Society on the Eastern Continent has many features of great interest. Details cannot be given of the still greater operations in the United States. The past year has been distinguished by the completion of three translations of the Bible —the Spanish, the Gilbert Islands, and the modern Syriac. The total number of volumes issued by the Society, to March 31, 1893, were 56,926,771.

Officers.—Managers are elected at the annual meeting of the Society, on the second Thursday of May. All the officers of the Society are appointed by the managers. President, Enoch L.

Fancher, LL.D.; Secretaries: Edward W. Gilman, D.D., Alexander McLean, D.D., Albert S. Hunt, D.D.; Treasurer, William Foulke; General Agent, Caleb T. Rowe. Headquarters, Bible House, Astor Place, New York.

Correspondence.—Letters relating to the general work in the United States and foreign lands, requests for grants of books, and communications for the Bible Society Record should be addressed to the Secretaries of the American Bible Society, Bible House, Astor Place, New York. Letters transmitting funds, or relating to accounts, life memberships, and legacies, should be addressed to the Treasurer. Orders for Bibles and Testaments, the Bible Society Record, etc., should be addressed to the General Agent.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

THIS organization will celebrate its "silver anniversary" in March, 1894, having been organized in Tremont Street Church, Boston, in March, 1869. Among the spiritual developments of the last quarter of a century perhaps the most striking is the uplifting of womanhood in heathen lands through the efforts of this and kindred societies. It was formally approved by the General Conference of 1872, and was incorporated December 27, 1884.

Foreign Work.—The statistics of the foreign work for the year ending October, 1893, are as follows:

Total number of missionaries, 145; of these 117 are in the field and 22 at home with impaired health. Twenty-two are in Japan, 8 in Mexico, 31 in China, 2 in Bulgaria, 36 in India, 6 in Korea, 2 in Malaysia, 2 in Italy, 5 in South America, and 3 in Burmah. Hospitals and dispensaries, 13; day schools, 353; boarding schools, 35; pupils in both, about 14,000; orphanages, 12. Several thousand women are also under instruction in their homes and through evangelistic work in the villages.

German Work.—This is at present summarized as follows:

Auxiliaries in nine German Conferences in the United States, 144; members, 2,807. In Switzerland, 25 auxiliaries; members, 900. Amount raised by German societies in United States during the year, $4,957.90.

Home Organization.—This is represented by the following recent figures:

Publications.—The vigorous condition of the three publications of the Society is indicated in the following summary:

The Heathen Woman's Friend, at a subscription price of fifty cents a year, with a list of 21,529 subscribers, has contributed in the past eleven years from its surplus earnings $26,000 for the printing and distributing of free missionary literature. The Heathen Children's Friend, established in 1889, has a subscription list of 13,521; the Heiden Frauen Freund has a list of 2,691. In all these subscriptions there has been an increase during the year. Illustrated papers are published by the Society in India in three native dialects.

Supplies Department.—Of this department of service the Corresponding Secretary speaks as follows, in the annual report for October, 1893:

The Supplies Department has distributed clothing during the year worth $70,385.40, which has been estimated below its real value. Occasionally a barrel of supplies will not be adapted to the need of the place, or will prove less valuable than expected; but the almost universal testimony is one of grateful recognition of the good judgment exercised in distributing our goods, the value of the articles sent, and the important service rendered our frontier work by this bureau.

Finances.—The receipts of the Society include membership dues, donations, collections, and bequests. In summary they are as follows:

Receipts, first quadrennium, Oct. 15, 1880, to Oct. 15, 1883, $27,303.10; second quadrennium, $216,247.27; third quadrennium, $595,591.42; year

Organizations and Institutions.

The modern majesty consists in work. What a man can do is his greatest ornament, and he always consults his dignity by doing it.—Carlyle.

The Epworth League.

THIS organization was formed at Cleveland, O., May 15, 1889, by the union of the Oxford League, the Young People's Methodist Alliance, the Young People's Christian League, the Young People's Union, and the North Ohio Conference Methodist Episcopal Alliance. The Lyceums which had not been merged into Oxford Leagues were unrepresented. Till November, 1892, the Central Office was at the Sunday School rooms, New York. The General Conference in May, 1892, formally adopted the League, locating the Central Office at 57 Washington Street, Chicago, Ill. The chapters on the anniversary in 1890 were 1,820; in 1891, 5,602; in 1892, 8,102; and in 1893, 10,200. The present enrollment is 11,300 chapters, with 750,000 members.

Six college chapters have been organized the past year, and over sixty chapters in foreign lands. About 325 District League conventions have met; anniversaries have been held at most of the Annual Conferences; State and General Conference District conventions have drawn delegates from almost the entire territory of the Church. Among these gatherings was the First International Convention at Cleveland, June, 1893. Some of the year's results are the growth of the Reading Course in favor; the perfecting of the Epworth Guards, a military organization for youth; the pledge of the adjacent Conference Leagues to the support of the hospitals and deaconess homes at Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit, and Minneapolis; the organization of a city missionary society, with whose work the League is expected to cooperate; the observance of Epworth League College Day in Michigan; and revivals among young people in every quarter. Auxiliary to the League are the Junior League and the Epworth Guards, the former intended to include children under fourteen. The Junior League now numbers 2,000 chapters, with 80,000 members. The Epworth Guards, though only inaugurated at the Cabinet meeting in June, are meeting with favor among those interested in saving the boys to the Church.

Organization and Government.—The chapters, with other young people's societies approved by the Quarterly Conference, are organized into Presiding Elders' District Leagues and General Conference District Leagues. The management of the League is vested in the Board of Control, consisting of fifteen members appointed by the bishops, one of whom is a bishop, who is president of the Epworth League and of the Board of Control, and of one member from each General Conference District; the latter are selected as the organization in each District decides. This Board of Control meets twice each quadrennium. The president of a chapter must be a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is elected by the chapter and approved by the Quarterly Conference, of which he becomes a member.

Methodist Assurance Association.

UNDER instruction of the General Conference of 1892 the bishops appointed a commission of seven laymen to organize a Church insurance company, on the mutual or stock plan. The commissioners have since decided to incorporate on the latter plan, under the laws of the State of Illinois, an insurance organization to be known as the "Methodist Assurance Association," with a capital stock of $200,000, to be divided into shares of $100 each. It was also decided that a surplus fund should be created out of the net profits of the business until the same should equal in amount the capital stock, thereby securing further protection to the stock and policy holders against loss or failure to pay the full semiannual dividends. A charter has been formulated and accepted by the State insurance authorities, and the Association authorized to secure its capital stock. When this is accomplished, or at least $100,000 is paid in, the Association can complete its organization and begin business. The paid-up stock is a nonassessable, long time investment.

The object of the organization is to insure the more than $90,000,000 worth of buildings belonging to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and also the personal effects of its pastors. The scattered and isolated risks, the elimination of the moral hazard—so great an element in insurance—and the transaction of business with the insured from a central office, thereby dispensing with an army of local agents, give promise of cheaper and more reliable insurance. The Wesleyans of England have had a Church insurance company in successful operation for twenty years, during which time the losses have been less than 25 per cent of the premium and interest receipts, and the annual net profits have averaged 53 per cent. With a much larger Church property and four times their membership, in view of the rapid growth of the Church the Methodist Assurance Association has reasonable prospects of grand success.

Officers.—The commissioners appointed by the bishops are William Deering, Evanston, Ill.; Judge O. H. Horton, Chicago, Ill.; Lewis Miller, Akron, O.; J. E. Searles, Brooklyn, N. Y.; T. J. Green, Kansas City, Mo.; N. W. Harris, Chicago, Ill.; G. B. Johnson, Cincinnati, O. Special Solicitor, W. P. Stowe, D.D., who will send prospectus and other information upon application. Address of Solicitor, 57 Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

The City Evangelization Union.

The last General Conference gave its hearty indorsement to a new organization called the "City Evangelization Union," a society largely composed of laymen and representative of the various local Church Extension and Missionary Societies in the larger cities. In November, 1893, the Union held in Cincinnati its third convention. Delegates were present from at least twenty-five cities. A deep interest in this important phase of the Church's activity was evinced. Measures were discussed and adopted for arousing the cities where no Unions exist. Special blanks are to be used by which definite reports may be received from all the local societies and a tabulation of actual results secured. The next convention will be held at Buffalo, N. Y.

The Itinerants' Club.

THE object of this movement is "to promote the good work of ministerial education, especially as it applies to the training of Methodist Episcopal preachers who have not enjoyed the advantages of either college or theological seminary. Also to urge the prosecution of advanced studies by pastors who have already passed the Conference or other theological courses of study." It was proposed in the Methodist Review in 1889, and has since assumed various forms and names. Among the notable meetings of the Club have been those at Bloomington, Ind., and Buffalo and Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Clubs for 1894 are proposed for Topeka, Kan., Des Moines, Ia., and Chautauqua, N. Y. Lectures have hitherto been given at these clubs; conversations and drills for members of Conference classes have been conducted; and Conference examinations have been sometimes held. Such practical topics have also been discussed as "Church Records," "Congregational Singing," "The Training of Young People in Church Loyalty and Service," "The Ordering of Public Worship," "The American People—How to Reach, Evangelize, and Elevate Them," and "The Value of the Individual Church Member." Several Conferences have also organized "Conference Schools of Theology," with regular "chairs" and rigid examinations, as the outgrowth of the Itinerants' Club. Bishop J. H. Vincent is the particular patron and director of this important movement.

*Justice, however, requires the statement that the figures should not be taken as a basis of comparisons, as the reports are not made upon a uniform plan. In some cases there are included in the receipts sums obtained from other sources than collections; while in the expenditures are in other instances omitted the sums devoted to permanent improvements. By provision indicated on page 79 this inequality will be remedied in the future. Altogether it is estimated that the local Societies and Unions have raised the grand total of a quarter of a million dollars for city evangelization.

Woodward, of the District of Columbia, their associates and successors, two thirds of whom shall at all times be members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, are hereby constituted a body politic and corporate by the name The American University, with power to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, and have perpetual succession; to acquire, take by devise, bequest, or otherwise, hold, purchase, encumber, and convey such real and personal estate as shall be required for the purpose of its incorporation; to make and use a common seal, and the same to alter at pleasure; to choose a board of trustees consisting of not more than fifty, of whom fifteen shall constitute a quorum to do business, and which board shall be authorized to fill any vacancies in their number, to appoint such officers and agents as the business of the corporation shall require, and to make by-laws for the accomplishment of its purposes, for the management of its property, and for the regulation of its affairs. Said corporation is hereby empowered to establish and maintain within the District of Columbia a university for the promotion of education. Under this charter the University now holds a site of ninety acres, at the end of Massachusetts Avenue, Washington, D. C., valued at $500,000. Pledges of $300,000 more have been received toward building and endowment. Of this amount the ministers of Methodism have thus far pledged $60,000 of a proposed $100,000 to erect an Asbury Memorial Hall. Architects are now preparing studies for the proposed buildings, and in the near future this great dream will take on reality and swing its doors open to students.

The work of the American University will be entirely post-graduate and along the three lines of professional schools, the training of specialists, and original research. The vast collections of the government which are accumulating at Washington afford rare facilities to students in such an institution as The American University. They are what a real university must have at command, are valued at $33,000,000, are maintained at an annual expense of $4,000,000, and are open by law to all students in the District of Columbia.

Deaconess Work.

This providential movement has proved itself, in the six years of its existence, an invaluable agency in the advance of the work of the Church. The history of its origin has been briefly summarized as follows :

This work began informally in America at Chicago, in June, 1887, where Mrs. Lucy Rider Meyer had established a Missionary Training School. The first home was organized in the building belonging to this school, and was under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, being at the beginning only informally connected with the Church. In May, 1888, the General Conference was memorialized by the Chicago Preachers' Meeting regarding the great work began in their city, and by the Bengal (India) Conference, with reference to more authority for the zenana and other woman missionaries in India. Dr. J. M. Thoburn, now bishop, ably championed the cause, and the result was the recognition and formal authorization of deaconesses, as set forth in the Discipline. The Chicago Home remained the only one in the Church for a year and a half, when (in December, 1888) the Elizabeth Gamble Home was organized in Cincinnati. From that time the work spread rapidly.

Deaconesses differ from other missionaries in that they (1) must be trained; (2) work entirely voluntarily, taking no vows ; (3) wear a simple costume ; (4) are entirely unsalaried, in nearly all cases ; (5) live usually in communities called "homes;" and (6) are individually recognized by the Church and must be yearly "approved" by the Annual Conference within whose bounds they labor.

The work of deaconess nurses has to the present time been much blessed, and has attracted wide attention. Eight hospitals* have been established in connection with the deaconess homes, organized on the disciplinary plan, and another, the Portland Hospital in Oregon, has been largely aided by deaconesses. Wesley Hospital, in Chicago, though the first established under deaconess auspices, is not now connected with the work.

Foreign Work.—In India this is developing rapidly, under the oversight of Bishop Thoburn. Property has also been given for a home in China, and there are two deaconesses in that land. There is a large deaconess work in Germany and Switzerland under the auspices of, though now organically connected with, the two Conferences in those countries. Its headquarters are at Hamburg, where there is a fine large home and hospital.

* The relation of deaconess work to many of the hospitals of the Church is so intimate that in the table on the following page certain hospitals are included in the list with homes. In the résumé of hospital work which later follows, reference is also necessarily made to deaconess service.

The University Senate.

AUTHORIZED by the General Conference of 1892 to formulate a standard of requirements for graduation in the colleges of the Church. The Senate held its first meeting at Syracuse, N. Y., November 23–24, 1893. There was entire unanimity of action, and a standard of requirements was agreed upon which, it is believed, will give general satisfaction to the Church, and will promote all its educational interests. For the first time in the history of the Church the principle of connectional supervision over Methodist institutions of learning is thus fairly recognized. The Senate has since reported its work to the Board of Education, which is authorized to apply the standard to the institutions of the Church, and to designate as colleges those that meet the requirements. The following compose the University Senate as appointed by the bishops: At large, W. F. Warren, D.D., Boston, Mass. Dist. I, B. P. Bowne, D.D., Boston, Mass.; II, B. P. Raymond, D.D., Middletown, Conn.; III, C. N. Sims, D.D., Syracuse, N. Y.; IV, J. F. Goucher, D.D., Baltimore, Md.; V, T. P. Marsh, D.D.; Alliance, O.; VI, W. H. Crogman, M.A., Atlanta, Ga.; VII, J. P. D. John, D.D., Greencastle, Ind.; VIII, H. W. Rogers, LL.D., Evanston, Ill.; IX, M. V. B. Knox, D.D., Wahpeton, N. Dak.; X, A. B. Hyde, D.D., Denver, Colo.; XI, W. A. Quayle, D.D., Baldwin, Kan.; XII, L. G. Adkinson, D.D., New Orleans, La.; XIII, F. W. Schneider, M.A., Berea, O.; XIV, J. N. Beard, D.D., Napa, Cal.

College Presidents' Association.

The annual meeting was held at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., November 22, 23, 1893. Officers elected: President, L. R. Fiske, D.D., LL.D., Albion College, Michigan; Vice President, B. P. Raymond, D.D., LL.D., Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.; Secretary and Treasurer, J. E. Stubbs, D.D., LL.D., Baldwin University, Berea, O. The above were elected an executive committee. The next meeting will be held at De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., the Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving week, 1894.

Veteran Ministers' Relief Association.

This Association is composed of various influential laymen who have combined to bring the Church back to her primitive custom as regards the care of ministerial claimants. For the first seventy-five years of her history the support of the veteran ministers and the widows of deceased ministers was as much a legal claim as that of any preacher. The introduction of the Annuity Plan of support, based upon the experience of Wesleyan Methodism for two generations, and which has been in successful operation for several years in the New York East Conference, will legalize the claims of the veterans as at the beginning. Since the last General Conference the plan has been adopted by fifty Annual Conferences, and steps toward its acceptance have also been taken by fifteen or twenty others. It is hoped that the plan will be in practical operation in most if not all of the Annual Conferences by the end of the quadrennium. The Association will then submit to the General Conference a Connectional Plan which has received the approval of hundreds of leading ministers and laymen throughout the Church.

President, W. H. Murphy, Newark, N. J.; Vice President, E. S. Ormsby, Emmettsburg, Ia.; Treasurer, William Halls, Jr., New York; Recording Secretary, J. F. Romig; Corresponding Secretary, Jay Benson Hamilton, D.D., Hackettstown, N. J.

Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Brooklyn.

THIS institution occupies a healthful and commanding site. Value of grounds, $200,000. Four imposing edifices have been erected at a cost of about $550,000; the fourth building was reared during the past year and involved an expenditure, including equipment, of over $75,000. It is an accessory to the administration building, and constitutes the power-house and workshop of the establishment. The Hospital has already accumulated an Endowment Fund of upwards of $190,000. It has been in operation since December, 1887. Including out-patients it has in six years cared for about ten thousand people, at a cost of about $195,000. These disbursements have been met monthly and the Hospital is free from debt. An outlay for improvements, fixtures, instruments, printing, and traveling expenses, amounting to about $2,500 annually, has also been met.

During the past year 897 patients occupied beds, and nearly 600 were treated as out-patients. Added to the Endowment Fund $13,131.10, and to the Building Fund $8,549.25. Total receipts for all purposes, $77,478.75. Thirty-one beds, endowed in perpetuity by gift of $5,000 each, are now in use. A "Missionary Bed" is being endowed by an honored minister in Methodism whose name is as yet withheld by his request; his hope is that others will add $15,000, thus endowing a "Missionary Room."

Officers.—President of Managers, J. M. Buckley, D.D.; Superintendent, Rev. J. S. Breckenridge, 216 Garfield Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Philadelphia Methodist Episcopal Hospital.

THIS institution is eligibly located on South Broad and Wolf Streets, at a convenient distance from the Pennsylvania Railroad Station and the Reading Terminal. Six buildings are in use—the administration building, a pavilion, kitchen and boiler house, operating room, laundry building, and ambulance stable. The capacity is now seventy beds. Each pavilion is complete in itself, and the wards of each are isolated from one

NOTE.—In the enumeration of the various hospitals and other benevolent institutions which follow, as far as page 100, the editor is aware that he probably does not furnish an exhaustive catalogue. He has, however, diligently sought for facts regarding the charitable work of the Church in the great centers of population, and has inserted all information which has been available. In the case of some hospitals, their intimate relation to deaconess homes, as indicated in the footnote on page 87, leads to their classification on page 88.

other. Each ward receives the sunshine at all hours of the day, and each bed has an air space of 1,760 cubic feet.

Over three thousand patients have received treatment since the opening, more than two years ago. They have come from twelve States and ten Annual Conferences. No discrimination is made because of color or creed. Patients are expected to pay according to their means, the charges in the public wards being $10 per week. Private rooms are provided at $15 and upward, weekly. No one, however, is refused admission because unable to pay, a properly accredited letter being required certifying to this inability. Dispensary patients have been charged the bare cost of medicine, and ninety-one per cent of the ward patients have received board and treatment free. The nurses have also paid several hundred visits to the homes of poor patients.

Financial.—There is still a considerable indebtedness on the buildings and grounds. The trustees are dependent on private donations, and Church and Sabbath school collections. Contributions are urgently needed for the endowment of free beds. The financial statement is as follows :

Total receipts for year ending March, 1893, $58,246. This includes $37,270.69 from collections and private contributions ; $12,289 from interest and income ; $5,435 from bequests ; $1,124 from patients ; $375 from the city for ambulance service. Credited to the endowment of free beds, $13,876 ; contributed within the bounds of the Central Pennsylvania Conference, $6,686.45. The securities and real estate from the Stewart bequest are valued at $180,000 ; net value of property estimated at $470,000.

Nineteen beds have been endowed within the last three months. Two years since a training school for nurses was organized, and is now in an encouraging condition, Miss Dibbs, a graduate of Brooklyn Hospital, being superintending nurse and instructor. Evangelical Alliance for the United States.

THE object of this Union is "the furtherance of religious opinion with the intent to manifest and strengthen Christian unity, and to promote religious liberty and cooperation in Christian work without interfering with the internal affairs of the different denominations." The World's Evangelical Alliance was formed at London in 1846. The American Alliance was organized in January, 1867, and incorporated under the laws of New York, June, 1885. Alliances of the pastors and laymen of evangelical Churches are formed: (1) for Christian fellowship and the discussion of common interests; (2) for an annual canvass of the community by a systematic house-to-house visitation, to establish friendly acquaintance with nonchurchgoers, and to win them to Christ and the Church. Further information as to the general purposes of the Alliance may be obtained by application to the General Secretary.

In connection with the "World's Congress Auxiliary" an Evangelical Alliance Congress was held at Chicago, October 8–15, 1893. The following subjects were considered: 1. The Religious Condition of Protestant Christendom. 2. Christian Liberty. 3. Christian Union and Cooperation. 4. The Church and Sociological Problems.

The American Sabbath Union.

THE object of this Association is "to preserve the Christian Sabbath as a day of rest and worship." For this purpose it aims to secure the formation of cooperative Sabbath Associations in all the States and Territories; to aid those Associations already organized that accept the basis of this Union; to gather and diffuse information; to publish documents; to use the public press; to cause addresses to be made; and to employ other expedient means for the realization of its aims.

The Union was organized at Washington, D. C., December 12, 1888, and incorporated in New York State, December, 1890. It joins with cooperating Sabbath Associations in circulating Sabbath literature throughout the United States, and furnishes them with stereotype plates, or such other assistance as circumstances may require. All Sabbath Associations may purchase at cost from this Society such Sabbath documents as they need for distribution within their districts.

The National League.

FULL name, "The National League for the Protection of American Institutions." Incorporated in New York, December

24, 1889. Its objects are to secure constitutional and legislative safeguards for the protection of the common school system and other American institutions, and to promote public instruction in harmony with such institutions, and to prevent all sectarian or denominational appropriations of public funds.

Its proposed Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, forbidding the use of public money for sectarian purposes, was introduced into both Houses of the Fifty-second Congress, January 18, 1892, and was referred to the Committees on the Judiciary. It has been unanimously approved by the highest representative bodies of the Baptist, Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, Congregational, United Presbyterian, and other Protestant Churches, and opportunity has been offered to the Roman Catholic Church to take similar action. The League has also secured the withdrawal of the Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, and Congregational Churches from participation in the dangerous division of national funds for sectarian work among the Indians. The various American patriotic orders, representing about two millions of voters, have given the Sixteenth Amendment hearty indorsement, and steps have been taken to call a national convention of such organizations at an early day.

The League is absolutely unsectarian and nonpartisan in character. All patriotic citizens who desire to aid and cooperate with the Society are invited to communicate with the General Secretary at the offices of the League, No. 1 Madison Avenue, New York city, N. Y.

Chautauqua System of Education.

In every village, town, and city are those ambitious to do mental work, who need a specified course of study and wise encouragement. The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, originated in 1878, admirably meets this demand. The course gives what is called "the college outlook." Any person is eligible to membership on payment of fifty cents. Since 1878 there have been enrolled 225,000 members. In local circles the subjects of reading and study form topics of conversation, the contact of mind stimulating thought and awakening dormant powers. To supplement the regular work of these local circles popular lectures (usually in courses of six) are sent out in type-written form to be read. The central authorities also put those desirous of serious mental work in communication with college professors who, by means of lesson sheets, give instruction in college subjects.

Summer Study.—At Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., is offered during July and August an ideal life of study and rational recreation. A model town has grown up, with all the material equipments of a municipality, with many public buildings, and with hundreds of private cottages and villas.

The organ of the Assembly is The Daily Herald; of the Chautauqua Circle, The Chautauquan; editor, T. L. Flood, D.D., Meadville, Pa.; subscription for the latter, $2 per year.

fiers, 1,544—a decrease of 82; retail liquor dealers, 215,434—a decrease of 14,974; wholesale liquor dealers, 4,783—a decrease of 86; brewers, 1,967—a decrease of 171; retail dealers in malt liquors, 10,031—a decrease of 358; wholesale dealers in malt liquors, 4,969—a decrease of 70. The New York Tribune.

1894.

STAND BY REPUBLICAN POLICY.

VICTORY IS SURE.

Do not abandon the system which gives the country the best Opportunities for its Farmers, Mechanics, and Young People, they have ever had! No Interference with the Protective Tariff and no Repeal!

Trample upon every proposition for Unlimited Free Coinage of Silver Dollars which are worth only 72 cents on the dollar. Make them worth a full Dollar. The $145,000,000 of National Bank Notes withdrawn from circulation since 1881 have been replaced by over $325,000,000 of Silver which has been put out. Now make the people's silver money worth its face, for your own benefit! Reserve the Public Lands for actual settlers and save them from monopolies and speculators! Protect and encourage the actual settler! No Interference with the progressive policies of the Republican party (repeatedly enacted into law) of building up a New Navy; Protecting the Sea Coasts; Pensioning Union Veterans; excluding the Chinese; Regulating Inter-State Commerce; Defending the Common Schools; Protecting American Citizens Abroad; Securing Reciprocity with other American Nations; Demanding Free Expression of the Popular Will in Elections, and an Honest Count; Extending American Commerce; Reviving American Shipping; Temperance; and Restraining Trusts. The Superb Market Reports of THE N. Y. TRIBUNE are now positively the best printed by any newspaper in New York City. THE TRIBUNE is the only newspaper in New York which sends men personally into every market in the city every day of the business week to obtain actual prices and the state of trade. Other papers make up quotations largely from circulars. Commercial travelers say unanimously that THE TRIBUNE'S Market Reports are the best. THE TRIBUNE now beats all rivals in the accuracy and wonderful completeness of its quotations. To be successful a practical and level-headed man must keep fully informed as to Prices and the State of Trade. This can be done by taking THE TRIBUNE. Illustrations of the news of the day are freely used in THE TRIBUNE. This paper has its own corps of artists and photo-engraving plant. It contains features for the ladies and children; foreign letters and book reviews, and many special features. No Matter Whether you agree with THE N. Y. TRIBUNE or not, in its sentiments, can you afford not to read its Dollar WEEKLY, regularly, while a reactionary party is in power and during These Times of Change? THE N.Y. TRIBUNE is the ablest, most aggressive, and soundest advocate of Republican policies. What the Republican party intends can be learned from THE N. Y. TRIBUNE. THE TRIBUNE'S motto is the Truth and only the Truth. The articles of Roswell G. Horr, on the Tariff, Currency, Wages, etc., will be continued. Remember! THE N. Y. TRIBUNE is the cleanest, purest, and safest of newspapers for your family. Does a weekly newspaper, which invades the home with immorality, sensation, and falsehood, receive your sanction? The broad columns and large print of THE N. Y. TRIBUNE make it the easiest paper to read.

THE TRIBUNE has the largest circulation of any Weekly in the United States, issued from the office of a Daily. We have challenged the country for a year, with no takers.

"Washington's Farewell." Write for the full, illustrated Premium List of THE N. Y. TRIBUNE. A copy will be mailed free of charge. "Washington's Farewell to his Officers," an accurate historical picture, painted expressly for THE TRIBUNE by an artist of great authority, will be sent to every one paying $1.20 for his paper. Other exceedingly interesting and valuable articles are included in THE TRIBUNE'S list.
